

Julianna Driskel

Human Capital Officer, Community Engagement Manager, Operations

Julianna is a California native with a talent for supporting cross-functional teams, identifying efficiency opportunities through data and relationship building. Having shifted her focus to human capital development and corporate strategy, she supports the professional development of MPS-ers and how this development aligns to MPS's growth strategy.

Before joining M Powered Strategies and the world of Federal IT Consulting, she provided Operational support to consumer brands including Fender, PayPal and Keurig. A graduate of Cal Poly San Luis Obispo with a B.S. in Graphic Communication and a triple minor in Food Science, Art History and Packaging, Julianna strongly identifies with MPS's culture of kindness and dedication to service.

She can be found with several tabs open on her computer or riding nowhere on her stationary bike.
